You can make any video into a loop and share it with anyone. When you click the download button, it will automatically start to download the video loops. And it will take several seconds to start. Once you download the video loops, you can watch it offline without a network connection. Watch without internet. But if you want to share the video on social network such as Facebook,

Twitter, Tumblr, Instagram, you can choose to upload the video directly to YouTube, Facebook, Twitter, etc. Step 4. Add

YouTube and Facebook share button Step 5. Adjust the loop to your liking Step 6. Done! Please feel free to leave your comments or suggestions below. I would love to hear from you.Q: How do I set the default value of all objects in a Json property to some default value? I'm using the DataContractJsonSerializer from Newtonsoft.Json to serialize a class to a string. The code looks something like this: `public class MyClass { public string SomeProperty { get; set; } } ... var serializer = new DataContractJsonSerializer(typeof(MyClass)); string json = serializer.Serialize(new MyClass());` I want to set the default value of the SomeProperty property to "default" so that when I serialize a MyClass with no value for SomeProperty, the string I get back will be "default". I know I can do something like: `SomeProperty = "default";` But I'm looking for something a little more concise. Is there a way to set the default for all properties of an object when serializing with DataContractJsonSerializer? A:

You can use a configuration file to set default values: DefaultValue The serializer uses the values you specify in the configuration. Documentation can be found here: 82157476af
